

Native Pastures – Natural Adapters

Alison Elvin
NaturalCapital Pty Ltd

alison@naturalcapital.com.au

Red anthers of Redanther Wallaby grass, spring.

A mixed native pasture on skeletal soils – various species of Spear grass, Wallaby Grass and some Wire Grass

Brushtailed Spear grass in flower, late spring

A tussock of River Poa Tussock colonizing a drainage line

River Poa in flower

Grazed Corkscrew Grass flowering again, early autumn

Corkscrew Grass and Hairy Panic, edge of native pasture, late summer after rain

C4 grass, Hairy Panic coming into flower, late summer

Close-up of Hairy Panic, late summer

A C4 native lovegrass in late summer scattered throughout native pastures

A C4 grass in late summer – Windmill grass

A C4 grass in late summer – Hairy Panic

Forbs in native pastures – nitrogen-fixing bitter pea

Another nitrogen-fixing forb in native pastures

Nitrogen-fixing pea plant

